Responsibility for Loss or Damage
Unless a greater value is declared in writing in the space provided on the shipping record provided to UPS, the shipper declares the declared value of each package to be no greater than $100, which is a reasonable value under the circumstances surrounding the transportation. For each $100 or fraction thereof of declared value per package in excess of $100, an additional charge, as stated on the current rate chart, applies. Except if otherwise directed by the shipper, UPS will remit excess valuation charges to an insurance company or company as a premium for shipper's intent cargo insurance at the shipper's account and on its behalf. When UPS does so, claims for loss or damage to the shipper's property will be filed with and settled by UPS on behalf of the applicable insurance company. Shippers Intent Cargo Policies are available for inspection at the office of UPS. Claims not made within nine months after delivery of the package or, in the case of nondelivery, within nine months after a reasonable time for delivery has lapsed, shall be deemed waived. UPS shall not be liable for any special, incidental, or consequential damages.

All shipments are subject to the terms and conditions contained in the applicable UPS guide to services in effect at the time of shipment and the UPS tariff, which are available upon request.
